After deducting price factors, the actual growth was 7.6%. The national median per capita disposable income was RMB 33,036, a nominal growth of 5.3% compared to the previous year.

2. Consumer profiling

With the pursuit of healthy life and the appreciation of traditional culture, new teas combining traditional culture with modern trend elements and are warmly embraced by consumers. New teas have become a lifestyle habit for young people. The consumers of new tea drinks are mainly young people, who have a strong demand for fashion, personalization, and health, and are more receptive to tea drinks. At the same time, the new tea brand focuses on building a young and fashionable brand image, and has attracted the attention and participation of young consumers through social media and offline events, further expanding their consumer base. Females account for nearly 70% of tea consumers, and the post-90s and post-2000s generation have become the main consumers of new teas, accounting for approximately 75% of the market. According to the census data of China, the total population of the post-90s and post-2000s generations exceeds 330 million. The post-90s generation is entering a golden period of career development, while the first batch of post-2000s has already entered society. Among the new tea consumers, 44.3% have an income of RMB 5,001 to 10,000, and 29.9% of them have an income of RMB 10,001 to 15,000. They are willing to spend, generally value quality and service, are intrigued by new things, and pursue personalization, diverse, and experiential consumption. At the same time, with the upgrading of consumption, new tea drinks are also iterated continuously, developing in a healthier, more natural, and safer path. New tea brands have launched some drinks suitable for children and middle-aged and elderly people, further expanding the consumer base. The vast consumer base brings broad development space for the new tea beverage market.

3. Development opportunities for the food and beverage industry:

2023 was a year marked by the waning influence of the pandemic and the restoration of economic order, as well as a year of recovery for the catering industry. Despite the ups and downs throughout the year, the return to the normal rhythms of life and the pursuit of happiness were gradually coming back into people's focus. According to data released by the National Bureau of Statistics of China, the catering revenue in China was RMB 5.289 trillion in 2023, a year-on-year increase of 20.4%. Under the background of the gradual recovery of the catering industry and the dual boost from cultural confidence and supply chain capacity overflow, the trend of going global became “phenomenal” in 2023.

The gradually improving macroeconomic environment is the foundation for confidence in future catering development. With consumer willingness steadily rising to historic highs, the catering consumption continues to recover rapidly, driving an increasingly stronger domestic demand. The continuous increase in the chain restaurant penetration rate indicates promising prospects. Looking ahead, enterprises are actively adjusting their operational strategies to embrace new development opportunities.

4. Competitive Landscape:

After enduring three years of pandemic induced hardships, the consumer market witnessed a comprehensive recovery in 2023. However, the slogan of “revenge consumption” did not seem to manifest within the tea beverage market. A trend towards rational and healthy consumption has emerged, promoting increasing doubt among consumer about questionable characteristics such as high sugar, high fat, and high trans fatty acids in the tea beverages, which has compelled the market to introduce new tea drinks.

In 2023, the new tea beverage industry experienced a year of “involution”, including aspects such as “pricing”, “product”, “scenario”, “experience”, “marketing”, “listing”, and “overseas expansion”, etc. However, it is precisely because of this internal competition that the industry has accelerated its standardization and normalization, promoting the mutual progress of consumption and the market.

In 2024, it is foreseeable that new tea beverage brands will continue to fiercely compete in various directions such as “second-tier”, “10 thousand store plans”, “sinking”, and “overseas expansion”. However, in these tracks, it is destined that the disruptors will advance and the conservatives will be eliminated. The new tea beverage market will also accelerate the survival of the fittest and enter a new round of reshuffling.

III. Summary of 2024 Operational Plan

1. Business guidelines

The Company is a full-service provider of raw materials for new tea beverages. The Company mainly engages in the R&D, production, and sales of juice products, fruit pulps, and textured granule products, playing an important role in the supply chain of the new tea beverage industry. The Company has always been committed to producing natural, healthy, safe, and delicious products, and is dedicated to the development and upgrading of high-quality products. The Company continuously meets the personalized needs of new tea beverage companies and provides customized products and full-process services to customers.

2. Sales target and the basis

In 2023, China's full-year GDP exceeded RMB 126 trillion, an increase of 5.2% over the previous year. The economic growth rate is higher than the global economic growth rate of about 3%, ranking first among the world's major economies, contributing more than 30% to world economic growth, being the largest engine of world economic growth. Goldman Sachs predicts that China's GDP growth rate in 2024 is expected to reach 4.8%, and consumption and investment will become the engines of economic growth.

According to the data of the "2023 New Tea Beverage Research Report" published by the China Chain Store & Franchise Association, in the first half of 2023, the "new tea beverages" consumer market rebounded strongly in the first quarter, grew steadily in the second quarter, and performed well in the summer. The annual new tea beverage consumer market scale is expected to reach 149.8 billion, recovering the 3-year compound growth rate of nearly 20%. By 2025, the domestic consumer market is expected to further expand to NTD 201.5 billion. In terms of the number of stores, as of August 31, 2023, there were approximately 515 thousand new tea beverage stores in operation, compared to 378 thousand at the end of 2020, representing a growth of over 36%. Judging from the proportion of beverage stores included in Meituan, Dianping and Meituan's takeaway platform, in June 2023, new tea stores accounted for 57.7% of the total number of beverage stores, a decrease of 2.2% from the end of 2022.

The new tea beverage industry has a high level of standardization and strong reproducibility, and is the category in the catering industry with the highest chain store rate. According to the forecast of the CUBA Research Institute, the chain store rate of China's new tea beverage industry will reach 63.89% in 2023. Judging from the changes in the number of new tea brand stores of different scales, the number of small-scale brand stores has continued to decrease in the past three years. The growth in the number of stores of large-scale chain brands in 2023 is accelerated, and the "Ten Thousand Stores Plan" has become an inevitable goal.

As the macroeconomic recovery in China has restored public confidence, the willingness to consume gradually increased, and the new tea beverages will usher in stable growth. In 2024, based on the current status of the industry and the Company's plans, the growth target in line with the overall interest of the Company has been formulated to maintain the continuous growth of the Company's performance .

3. Policy and market factors

In 2024, the international environment will continue to be extremely complex, due to ongoing conflicts of Russia-Ukraine and Palestine-Israel. The rapid development of artificial intelligence has triggered ethical disputes, while the increasingly severe challenges of climate change demand collective action. Multiple global dynamics are evolving simultaneously, accelerating the evolution of international order. Many areas are still facing significant uncertainties. The economic development in China is still faced with the triple pressure of demand contraction, supply shocks and weakening expectations. This is why China's economic work in 2024 will still be based on "adhering to the general principle of seeking progress while maintaining stability", emphasizing "consolidation and enhancement of the positive trend of economic recovery, and continuous promotion of economic qualitative and efficient improvements as well as reasonable growth in quantity.” Currently, China is at a crucial stage of economic recovery and industrial transformation and upgrading. Under the strong leadership of the central government of China, local governments are implementing high-quality decision-making arrangements to promote sustained and healthy economic development.

The middle-income group in China continues to expand, and there is great potential for people’s needs for clothing, food, shelter, transportation, and cultural consumption. As consumption upgrades and consumer confidence increases, the consumption attributes of new tea beverages in 2024 will allow more people to consume, dare to consume, and willing to consume. With the implementation of various policies, new impetus will be injected into the development of the Chinese economy. The new tea beverages industry will flourish as a pioneering force in the catering industry.

Currently, the Company has four factories, located in Kunshan Jiangsu, Zhaoqing Guangdong, Tianjin Binhai, and Base Guangxi. The Kunshan, Guangdong, and Tianjin production bases serve customers in their respective regions, allowing for shorter transportation distances. These teams are capable of providing exclusive formulas and packaging based on customer requirements, ensuring product differentiation. They also offer customized sales and distribution services to guarantee the stability of product supply quality and maintain the order of customer chain operations, which helps establish long-term partnerships built on mutual trust. For distribution customers, the Company has established a comprehensive network of distributors nationwide. In the context of competition in mature markets, the Company regularly provides market information and new product training to distributors. This enables distributors to quickly introduce the Company's new products to regional markets, expanding the Company's product visibility and influence.

The Company also offers a variety of fruit-flavored complex tastes. In the direction of beverage upgrades, real tea, milk, fruit, sugar, and zero additives have become selling points for major brands in marketing, and they have also become preferred choice for consumers when buying beverages. At the same time, the texture granules have played a crucial role in promoting the popularity of new tea additives. The Company has upgraded its texture granules products and launched the Red Bean Pearls and shaped crystal balls. With the continuous expansion of new tea beverage channels, the Company has launched new tea beverage products suitable for new retail channels, such as Mango Pomelo Sago, Chinese berry sago, flavored lemon tea, and lime juice, with advanced technology and food safety management. 4. Environmental protection strategy

In response to national requirements for ecological protection boundaries, environmental quality standards, resource utilization limits, and goals for ecological zoning control to promote sustainable economic and social development, the Company has installed new sewage treatment equipment and systems to enhance sewage treatment capacity. Industrial wastewater generated during the production process is treated at the Company's own wastewater treatment plant, which ensures that the COD content of discharged water is less than 50% of local discharge standards set by the country. Additionally, the treated water is used for landscaping irrigation within the factory premises and solid waste cleaning, thereby reducing emissions.

The Company continues to improve its processes and upgrade its equipment annually, reducing the amount of solid waste generated during production. Solar energy is used to power outdoor lights, and it is increasingly used in newly built companies. Different energy-saving and emission-reduction measures are formulated according to the geographical location and temperature differences of different factories, in order to reduce energy consumption and reduce pollution to the environment.

5. Quality strategy

The Company's products are raw materials for beverages that have a direct impact on consumers' health. Food safety has always been a top priority for the Company, and thus the Company has obtained certifications for ISO 9001 quality control system, ISO 22000 food safety management system, FSSC 22000 food safety system, HACCP management system, and ISO 14001 environmental management system. The Company has established a food safety management system that includes supplier evaluation, inbound inspection, raw material usage, production process monitoring, and product release inspection to guarantee product quality and safety. Every step is meticulously executed according to relevant quality standards to maintain quality control throughout the procurement, production, and sales processes. The Company's quality control system is effective and product quality is stable.

V. Affected by the economic environment, external competitive environment, and regulatory environments

1. Influence of the economic environment

- ① In 2023, China's economy withstood external pressures and internal difficulties, with an overall recovery in economic development, and major targets were successfully achieved. Whether it was a horizontal comparison with major global economies, or a vertical comparison with China in the past few years, China's economic "report card" in 2023 was indeed hard-won. Entering 2024, the uncertainties of the international situation, including trade protectionism, technological blockade and geopolitical tension will affect the global supply chain system, and the global economy will fall into a period of slow growth for the long-term. These factors will bring greater pressure to the economy in China.
- ② Climate changes and environmental protection pose global challenges in 2024. The uncertainties in geopolitics and extreme weather conditions leads to fluctuations in energy, food, and commodity prices. Inflation will continue to drive up consumer prices, resulting in increased consumer spending for residents. However, with no significant growth in income, non-essential expenses may face reductions.
- ③ The year 2024 marks the 75th anniversary since the founding of the People's Republic of China and is a critical year for the implementation of the "14th Five-Year Plan". China government's economic work conference has made important arrangements for economic work in 2024, emphasizing the principles of seeking progress while maintaining stability, promoting stability through progress, and addressing challenges in a proactive manner. Through innovation in science and technology, we aim to lead the construction of a modernized industrial system. We will strengthen policy coordination to ensure that macroeconomic policies are aligned and synergized, accelerating the establishment of a unified national market and achieving a higher level of supply-demand balance. We will further expand high-level and opening-up to the outside world, promote urban-rural integration and regional coordinated development, effectively safeguard and improve people's lives, ensure stable employment for key groups, and vigorously promote the sustained improvement of the employment situation. By promoting more abundant and higher-quality employment opportunities, we aim to increase the income of workers and ensure that the people truly feel the tangible benefits. With the support of these favorable policies, new tea is ushering in a new growth point with its social attributes and the emotional needs of young people.

- ④ On the positive side, there are many opportunities for China's economic development. First, China has the super large-scale market with the most potential in the world. As social expectations gradually improve, high savings will gradually shift to consumption and investment. Second, macroeconomic policies will continue to provide support for economic recovery. This year, China will continue to issue RMB 1 trillion government bonds, and the effects of policies such as cutting reserve requirement ratio, reduce taxes, and fee reductions will continue to be released in Q2 and Q3. Additionally, new measures will be introduced, with incremental and stock policies working together to effectively promote economic recovery. Third is to increase efforts to attract foreign investment and continue to optimize the business environment. Last but not least, the new round of global technological revolution and industrial reform contains new opportunities. Technology breakthroughs in big data, artificial intelligence, new energy, quantum technology, bio-manufacturing and other fields are accelerating, driving faster transformation in production and consumption. Such developments will foster industrial changes, providing a broader stage for economic development in China.

2. Influence of the competitive environment

The impact of China's external competitive environment in 2024 will largely depend on global economic development, trade policies, technology competition, human resource markets, and geopolitical risks. The catering industry is affected by factors such as changes in consumer demand, market innovation and competitor strategies. Tea and beverage companies should pay attention to consumers' health awareness and needs, continue to innovate and launch products in line with market trends, and build diversified sales channels to maintain competitiveness and sustainable development.

3. Influence of the legal environment

- ① From January 1, 2024, China has adjusted the import and export tariffs of some commodities to promote a high-level of opening-up, a domestic and international circular economy, as well as sound economic development.

- ② Announcement of the "Decision of the State Council on Amendment of the Rules for Implementation of the Patent Law of the People's Republic of China", will come into effect on January 20, 2024. This aims to improve the patent application system, facilitate patent acquisition for applicants, strengthen patent protection, safeguard the legitimate rights and interests of patents, and encourage innovation in enterprises research and development.
- ③ On January 21, the State Taxation Administration issued a new version of the "Taxation Policy Guidelines to Stabilize Foreign Trade and Foreign Investment", updates the relevant taxation support policies and tax collection service measures currently in effect. This way, taxpayers can better understand and apply to the policies, and create a framework for the development of foreign trade and foreign investment, therefore creating a favorable tax environment for the development of foreign trade and investment.
- ④ On January 22, the State Council held an executive meeting to listen to a report on the operation of the capital market and work considerations. The meeting emphasized the need to further improve the basic system of the capital market, pay more attention to the dynamic balance of investment and financing, and vigorously improve the quality of listed companies and investment value, increase the influx of mid- and long-term funds into the market, and strengthen the inherent stability of the market.

VI. Development strategies

- 1、The Company's main customers are new tea beverages and new retail businesses. To better serve these customers, the Company has mobilized experienced R&D personnel to form a dedicated R&D team for main customers. This team works closely with the marketing, sales, production, quality control, and supply chain departments to swiftly respond to customer needs. They provide exclusive formulas and packaging for customers to ensure product differentiation. Additionally, the Company is optimizing their distribution network, collaborating deeply with high-quality distributors to offer customized products that meet the diverse customer demands. Empower traditional sales channel distributors to use the fresh online ordering platform to provide distributors with customer acquisition tools and product distribution solutions, to achieve complementary advantages with distributors, multi-win-win, and jointly serve customers. The Company will also continue to expand and deepen the sales channels of coffee, baking, and Chinese cuisines in the future. The Company will be committed to expanding the sales network coverage from first- and second-tier cities to new first-tier cities and third- and fourth-tier cities in order to increase the market breadth of the products and the number of customer groups, ultimately increasing the scale of the its product and sales.
- 2、The Company will consistently adhere to a market and customer-based approach, continuously broaden its product lines and upgrade its product technology, to enhance its ability to quickly respond to customized customer needs. INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

The Board of Directors and Shareholders
Sunjuice Holdings Co., Limited

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Sunjuice Holdings Co., Limited (the "Company") and its subsidiaries (collectively referred to as the "Group"), which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, and the consolidated statements of comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and the notes to the consolidated financial statements, including material accounting policy information (collectively referred to as the "consolidated financial statements").

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Group as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Financial Statement Audit and Attestation Engagements of Certified Public Accountants and the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2023. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

The key audit matter identified in the Group's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2023 is described as follows:

Revenue Recognition

In consideration of the materiality, auditing standards and recognition of sales revenue, which includes a presumption of significant risk, we identified the occurrence of sales revenue from specific customers as a key audit matter. Refer to Note 4(k) for the related accounting policies.

Our main audit procedures performed in respect of the above-mentioned key audit matter included the following:

1. We understood and tested the design and operating effectiveness of the key controls.
2. We sampled the details of sales revenue derived from specific customers, obtained delivery acceptance receipt signings and related information, and payment records to verify the validity of the revenue recognition.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the Group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2023 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partners on the audits resulting in this independent auditors' report are Ming-Chung Hsieh and Yi-Min Huang.
